I was able to start a conversation. In the next step, I want to ask it to describe some images in my PDF. However, I found out that the Image can only be described on a separate PDF page. I have tried to mark the images I want to describe, which indeed did put a caption on my picture, but then the bot asks me to download the document again to be able to see it. I want to avoid that. It is quite cumbersome and I really feel like I am missing something. Is there any possible way of putting text on the same image in the same document? A: Google Assistant will show the caption if you request it by saying something like "show images", e.g. "show images with caption" and "show images with caption in (PDF, image, video)", but it will show a notice about all images as intended, when you request all images, e.g. "show images". When you request individual images, only the very last image caption will be shown. See also: Google Assistant FAQ A neurobiological model of sleep. The term "sleep" is normally applied to the absence of motor movement and brain activity. However, the sleep state is manifest by a
