When the court reviewed the complaint in this case, it obviously relied on the pleadings as they existed, and the only interest plaintiff had in the real estate was a passing one. He acquired no interest by execution of the sheriff's deed. The interest was in the future revenue. The value of his interest was not ascertainable until the taxes were collected. The statute of limitations began to run upon the property's acquisition of a definite value. This is borne out by the nature of the relief sought in this action. An action for money had and received may be maintained to recover money received by a defendant when a reasonable time to return such money has expired. In order for plaintiff to establish any right to recover in this action, he must show that he made demands, and that he was wrongfully refused the use of the money. This he has not done. In his brief plaintiff states he has "filed this suit for said money." However, the complaint does not attempt to state a claim for money had and received. It seeks a judgment declaring that the contract created a valid lease and its term having terminated, that a valid sale had occurred and that plaintiff and defendant are joint owners. Plaintiff claims title by virtue of the sheriff's deed. The action is therefore based on erroneous pleading. On the question of which of the two recorded instruments, the sheriff's deed or the contract, is the *368 correct one, no contention is made that the contract is the one recorded. However, it is no longer the correct one because, upon the record, there was a valid lease and sale on the property in question. Section 1110 of the 1951 Code reads as follows: "Transfer of a leased or mortgaged property, with an executory contract for a new lease to be executed at a future date, shall be void as to third parties, except as to the lessee and mortgagor."
