

Christina El Moussa Net Worth, Early Life, Career & More

Christina El Moussa also known as Christina Meursing Haack is a household name and one of the most successful real estate investors in the United States. Born on July 9th, 1983, in Anaheim, California, Christina started her real estate career in 2008 during the housing crisis.

She worked hard and became one of the top-performing agents in the Orange County luxury home market. Her success in the real estate industry led to her co-hosting the popular HGTV show, "Flip or Flop," with her ex-husband, Tarek El Moussa. In this article we will check out christina el moussa net worth, early life and more.

Early Life

Christina El Moussa was born in Orange County, California, United States on July 9, 1983. She has a sister named Carly who is 10 years younger than her. Christina completed her schooling at Canyon High School and began her career in real estate following college. She attended college and focused on business and design. She then began investing in American real estate which ultimately helped in increasing christina el moussa net worth.

Career

While working as a real estate agent, Christina Anstead met Tarek El Moussa, her future husband. Together, they founded 'Tarek and Christina: The El Moussa Group', a real estate agency in Orange County, California. Their first house, located in Santa Ana, was bought for $115,000 and earned them a profit of $34,000. The couple expanded their real estate business to Arizona and Nevada and also established their own construction and design company in southern California.

However, the housing market plummeted after the October 2008 stock market crash, forcing them to downsize their lifestyle considerably. In 2010, they completed their first flip, which was six months behind schedule, but they were still able to make a modest profit, which further fueled their passion.

Tarek created an audition tape of their house-flipping process, which caught the attention of HGTV producers, leading to the couple being signed for their own show titled 'Flip or Flop'. Since its premiere in April 2013, the show has enjoyed huge success and despite their divorce in 2018, the couple continues to work together on the show.

Christina also has her own spinoff show, 'Christina on the Coast', which premiered in May 2019 and focuses on renovating her new home and fixing her clients' homes in seven additional episodes.

Christina El Moussa Net Worth

The estimated christina el moussa net worth as of 2023 is around $25 million. Her annual salary is approximately $5 million, which is primarily earned through her involvement with 'Flip or Flop' and other HGTV shows. In 2019, Christina's salary was increased to $50,000 per episode after she landed her own show on HGTV.

Endorsements

Through her extensive social media following, Christina El Moussa has promoted various brands and products. She has endorsed a variety of brands, including Pink Dust Cosmetics, LIKEtoKNOW.it, Orange City's Pink Laundry Boutique, DIFF Eyewear, and several other well-known brands.

Real Estate

Christina El Moussa renovated her own Newport Beach home's garden for the first season of "Christina on the Coast," which she bought in 2018 for $4.1 million. In April 2021, she listed the home for sale at $6 million, but ultimately sold it for $5.4 million.

In August 2021, Christina made two significant real estate purchases. In early August, she acquired a home in Nashville, Tennessee for $2.5 million. Later in the month, she purchased a property in Dana Point, California for $10.3 million which is a pretty normal investment if we consider christina el moussa net worth.